

LAKE COUNTRY CLASSICAL ACADEMY

Triad of Collaborative Responsibilities

The educational relationship among school, parents, and students forms a triangular framework, where each party upholds a critical corner to ensure a successful learning experience. At Lake Country Classical Academy, this collaborative model fosters student growth, self-reliance, and academic excellence through shared responsibilities. Central to our classical education approach, which prioritizes a content-rich curriculum in the liberal arts and sciences, this framework cultivates intellectual excellence, moral character, and civic virtue. By uniting families, teachers, and students in a shared commitment to academic rigor and personal growth, this triangular relationship supports each student’s holistic formation, as outlined in the responsibilities chart below.

Parent Responsibilities	School Responsibilities	Student Responsibilities
Honor the school's duty to do what is best for the entire community, while recognizing the needs of each individual student.	Value each student's distinct personality, along with their individual strengths and challenges.	All students are expected to show respect for the school environment and property.
Build and maintain collaborative relationships with teachers to promote each student's well-being and developing self-reliance.	Foster ongoing collaborations with parents to enhance each student's well-being and developing self-reliance.	Students are required to assume accountability for their studies, behavior, and personal conduct, which includes adhering to the uniform policy.
Interact with all individuals respectfully and courteously to preserve a cooperative approach during disagreements or difficulties.	Interact with all individuals respectfully and courteously to preserve a cooperative approach during disagreements or difficulties.	Students are expected to be courteous and respectful to adults at all times.
Seek to resolve problems and secure information through appropriate channels and established protocols: Refer to CONTACT PROTOCOLS.	Provide timely, pertinent, and developmentally-appropriate information about each child.	Understand that teachers serve as key resource and approach them for guidance or assistance when needed.
Recognize that educators are trained professionals and that educators and parental perspectives may justifiably differ.	Recognize that parents and guardians have extensive insights to offer about their children and that their children are precious to them.	Accept that all actions and language used at school are public displays and have impact on the community.
Remember there are always multiple sides to every story. Assume good intentions.	Remember there are always multiple sides to every story. Assume good intentions.	Responsible and considerate behavior toward one another is expected at all times.
Understand that your support of the academy represents a commitment to and investment in your child's educational journey.	Value the essential contributions families make to Lake Country Classical Academy.	Employ the resources supplied by instructors. Students bear the duty to complete any missed tests or assignments following an absence.